VESPA

1957

THE VESPA

Enterprise High School

Redding, California

DEDIC

Enterprise is now established as a full fledged four year school with a complete academic and activity program. In addition, although less tangible, are the equally important traditions and loyalties which are now firmly implanted. Instrumental in buiid-ing these programs and forging these traditions has been the Senior Class. This class, through its energy and leadership, has led the way in athletics, in academics, and in school government; in addition, it has pioneered the Hornet's Nest, the Vespa and succeeded in organizing chapters of FFA, FBLA, FHA and other clubs with national and local affiliation. Therefore, it is only fitting that this year's Vespa be dedicated to that group of students who will be the first to receive diplomas from Enterprise High . . .

THE SENIOR CLASS OF '57

FORE

Often times, as we go along the pathways of life, we will want to look back to relive the enjoyable experiences of high school, its many friendships and its varied activities. In this year's Vespa we have tried to keep alive forever the people and activities of significance to you.

Shasta County is "the hub" of the lumbering industry in all of California. Our town and school have necessarily blended with this important industry. This year's Vespa attempts to use for its general theme the similarities of the school to the lumber industry.

To start our journey through our Enterprise mill, first we look at the people in charge of the overall operation, the planners, the policy makers, in short, the administration . . .

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

The citizens of this district have again demonstrated their confidence in our schools by approving a $3 million bond issue. These new resources will make possible the expansion of Enterprise High School to double its present size. This has great signifiance to the youth of Enterprise and the eastern fringe areas.

Expansion will make it possible for this young and new institution to develop into a school of the most desirable size. It is generally considered that a student body of 1200-1400 pupils can be competitive in sports and other school activities with other schools having much larger enrollments. Furthermore, the curriculum offerings can be as rich and complete as is necessary and desirable. Yet, a school of 1200 is small enough that there can continue to be close personal relationships among the students and teachers; and opportunities for students to share in school activities will continue to remain high.

Enterprise has already demonstrated that it can meet strong competition with Shasta and other out-of-district schools. Friendly inter-school and inter-district rivalry is wholesome and desirable. Now that funds are available to permit a building program to go forward, and as the campus facilities are developed, Enterprise, under the able leadership of Mr. Denny and the faculty, is destined to become one of the leading high schools in the north.

JACKSON PRICE

Mr. Denny and Mr. Price at work.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Although we can point to numerous accomplishments of individuals and groups among our students and faculty during the past three years, essentially our accomplishment as a school has been to overcome the problem of newness and to gain a position of honor and prestige for Enterprise High School. We have probably enjoyed more success than would normally come to a new school.

During the next few years, however, we shall begin to face a different kind of problem. This is the problem of bigness. The new construction that is now under way will make Enterprise a big school. In a school, as in a city or a nation, the problems of living together increase in number and complexity as the population increases. As we grow into a school of a thousand or more students, we shall need more than ever before a student government that can act forcefully and with a deep sense of justice and responsibility. There will be in a big school more factions, more arguments, more competition, and particularly there will be more people that we do not know.

With the larger enrollment we may tend to neglect individuals just because we don't know them. Those individuals, in turn, may tend to become indifferent about their school because they do not feel that they are really an important part of it. That is a serious danger in a big school. I hope that through your continued good faith and good deeds, we can avoid this danger so that we shall become not only a big school, but a good one.

CHARLES F. DENNY

Mr. Denny points out future additions.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Mr. Thompson, Mr. McClung, Mr. Frisbie, Mr. Saeltzer M. Bowler was not present when this picture was taken.

The responsibility for fulfilling the policies of the Shasta Union High School District is placed in the capable hands of the School Board. These men, each of whom has numerous other responsibilities, largely determine the direction that education is to take locally. The high standards maintained in the high schools and junior college, plus the tremendous building program presently underway, testify to the industry of the board members.

VICE-PRINCIPAL

A new administrative office came into existence this year with the creation of the vice-principalship. The vice-principal is confronted with many duties, among them the overall supervision of the counseling program, overseer of student activities, and chief handler of discipline problems. The skill with which all these duties was discharged reflects the wisdom of the people who selected for Enterprise's First vice-principal, Mr. Bill Fitzgerald.

Mrs. Bowers checks computations in Clerical.

BUSINESS

The students interested in the business field have a good opportunity of learning the fundamentals of business by taking the many courses which are offered. In the General Business classes they study personal business problems such as banking services, money handling, and installment buying. Typing, bookkeeping, and stenography which are essential to business are offered to Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical Education is necessary to the well-rounded program, and for this reason the course is mandatory for both boys and girls. Good Sportsmanship is stressed through the teaching of various team sports. These activities include football, volleyball, baseball, and basketball. Individual sports such as boxing, tumbling, track, and field events are taught. Girls are given instruction on posture, dancing, and elementary rhythms. Cadets is also offered to boys in place of physical education.

Music

Under the direction of John Farruggia the music department has made considerable progress. The courses include Band I and II, Band lessons, A Cappella, Girls' Glee and Boys' Glee. The band is always present at home games, and frequently attends out-of-town games. This year the Band participated in the annual Band Day in Berkeley, the Chico Sight Reading Clinic, and the Music Festival. The students formed a special Pep Band in order to create more spirit and sportsmanship.

Art

Classes such as Crafts, Art I and II, and Advanced Applied Arts are offered in Art. These courses cover commercial art, practice in chalk, pencil, oil paint, and charcoal. Students learn to better understand different phases of drawing and sculpturing. Work in leather, clay, and other materials is taught in Crafts. Displays are assembled for exhibition to the school.

Mr. Moravec and students examine an abstract form.

JUNIORS

The growing timbers who are preparing for their last year are the Juniors. . .For them the high point of the year was the prom, held in February, the theme "Moonglow" was carried out with silver stars and a Parisienne sidewalk cafe surrounded by shrubbery and flowers. Nature provided a full moon which shone through the windows.

After entertainment the evening was highlighted by the presentation of the first prom queen and her attendants.

To stimulate a greater interest in our country's democratic procedures the Social Studies Department, during the November elections, sponsored a mock election in school. Campaign oratory, banner waving—even a television presentation by each party—preceded the day when the entire student body turned out to vote. The whole venture proved to be very rewarding.

The Hornets—top team in Northern California—combined a bruising running attack with a stonewall defense to enable them to go through the season unbeaten and untied. In capping this most successful year, the Hornets steamrollered the crosstown rival, Shasta, 27 to 0.

Equally successful were the varsity yell leaders whose well organized cheers and exuberant enthusiasm kept student body spirit at a constant high pitch.

CADETS

Cadets is a course which gives valuable experience in military training. Any boy may take Cadets in the place of Physical Education. Under the able leadership of Colonel Shoub, the students receive special instruction in the care and handling of firearms. The more skilled marksmen are members of a rifle team which competes with other schools.

After a slow start, largely because of inexperience, the Varsity gained momentum and swept on to a successful season.

High point of the season was the outstanding performance in the widely heralded Corning Tournament. The Hornets established themselves as a power to be reckoned with in Northern California.

Although matched with schools of greater enrollment and more experience, the Enterprise JV's managed to commit themselves admirably by winning a fair share of the games for the year. Many players developed in the year's time and will be fine additions to next year's varsity.

STREET ANGELS

One of the most active after-school organizations is the Street Angels. This club for boys is designed to stimulate interest in safety and careful driving. Regular gatherings are arranged so that club business can be transacted and members' cars can be worked on. The members are well-known for their courtesy and knowledge of mechanics.

The first Senior Story of the Vespa is an unusual one, in that the graduating class has had to take on special responsibilities of establishing traditions. They have helped achieve high standards for Enterprise by setting examples in good sportsmanship and academic pursuits.

As Freshmen, they attended Shasta Union High School until Enterprise was completed. The first student body offices were held by this class when they were Sophomores. One of their main projects in their Junior year was the Prom. This affair was carried out to the theme of "Mood Indigo."

This year they are planning their Senior Ball. Throughout their four years they have accomplished a lot, and have grown along with their school.
